Sisters and brothers,

1. Jesus starts his public life by the River Jordan, giving us a lesson in humility. Jesus joins the line of sinners, showing his solidarity with them. As he steps out of the water, marvelous things occur. He calls John and the bystanders. Jesus is truly the Messiah they had all been waiting for. If the Heavens are opened, it means that Jesus has heralded a time of reconciliation between God and man. If the Holy Spirit comes down upon Jesus in the form of a dove, it means that he has come to bring us the very life of God. The voice that is heard in heaven proclaims that Jesus is the beloved Son of the Father, a divine Person and much more than an ordinary person.

2. When we receive the sacrament of Baptism, the same voice is heard again in heaven: "This is my beloved child." As in Jesus' case, this is the beginning of a journey and a mission for us. Paradoxically, Baptism is a sign of death and life. We die to sin, but at the same time, we experience a new birth. We are renewed and become a new creature. Jesus is to be the continuous guide in our Christian life. In every Sunday Mass, we will hear how Jesus acted in his life, curing the sick, consoling the afflicted, forgiving sinners, raising the dead to life, proclaiming to all the good news of salvation. This is the new style that will mark our life.

3. We have been called to serve. The followers of Jesus are committed to imitating their master, whose entire life was spent doing good. The sacrament of Baptism lays a dividing line between those who wish to live a life of service and those who prefer a self-centered life, forgetting about others. Jesus came to live human life to teach us to love in the midst of suffering, humiliation, and the fight against injustice. By his example, he shows us that we become more human when we live for others.

May the contemplation of Jesus' Baptism and the recollection of our own Baptism help us to be aware that we need to organize our life in the light of the Gospel. We have been marked with an indelible mark so we never forget that we are God's children. And so, let us give thanks to God, always and everywhere.
